

Non-Disclosure

All employees and suppliers are expected to uphold their agreements with Teledyne to maintain confidentiality pertaining to proprietary information. This agreement represents an obligation for the employee or supplier to protect the intellectual property of the company even after employment or contract has ceased.
